

SENSORY SOUNDS

MAPS & DIRECTION

SONG LYRICS

What do you say to setting a new course today?
What do you say to heading off on our way?
And how do we know we're going where we're meant to be?
Do we just pick a path and then wait and see?

Well, we can choose our direction and then run for the hills
But when we get there we might just find the hills give us the chills
So we decide if we want to go back or push forward or
Maybe we just change direction if this one feels wrong?
Yeah, maybe we just change direction if this one feels wrong

Whether its North or South or Southeast or Northwest
You've got to take the paths that will suit you best
Getting a steer is one thing, but one thing stays true
If your direction changes that's up to you

Cause' you can choose your direction and then run for the hills
But when you get there you might just find the hills give you the chills
So you'll decide if you want to go back or push forward or
Maybe you just change direction if this one feels wrong?
Yeah, maybe you just change direction if this one feels wrong

Yes, we can choose our direction and then run for the hills
But when we get there we might just find the hills give us the chills
So we decide if we want to go back or push forward or
Maybe we just change direction if this one feels wrong?
Yeah, maybe we just change direction if this one feels wrong

It's fine that we just change direction if this one feels wrong

Lyrics and melody: Therese Ramstedt
Song arrangement: Knut Olav Rygnestad